Position Description

Alcohol Justice, the industry watchdog, is looking for a smart, up-and-coming graduate student interested in public policy research to join our dynamic team of experts for the summer. If you want to unleash your inner activist to help expose the alcohol industry's dirty tricks in promoting harmful products, engaging in deceptive marketing (particularly targeting youth), and undermining public policy, this internship is for you. This position works in coordination with research and policy staff and reports to the Research and Policy Manager. Responsibilities include conducting research into alcohol industry products, tactics, lobbying, and political influence; compiling research results; and writing reports, articles, blog posts, and/or fact sheets.

Qualifications

- Graduate student in public health, public policy, law, or related field
- Desire to use research and advocacy to advance social change and progressive public health policy
- Ability to follow directions accurately
- Ability to work both independently and in a team environment
- Excellent interpersonal and written communication skills
- Strong organizational and administrative skills
- Experience in public policy and/or politics a plus

Organizational Description

Alcohol Justice promotes evidence-based public health policies and organizes campaigns with diverse communities and youth against the alcohol industry's harmful practices. We monitor and expose the harmful products, promotions, and influence of alcohol corporations. We envision communities free of the alcohol industry's negative influence, and an industry that does not harm the public's health and safety. Visit alcoholjustice.org for more information. Work-study for this position is available.

To Apply

Send résumé, cover letter, and a writing sample on a health policy topic (2000 words maximum) in an email with subject line "Research & Policy Internship-Summer 2017" to: jobs@alcoholjustice.org. No phone calls or email queries, please.

This listing is also available online at alcoholjustice.org/about/employment.

Deadline: Monday, March 31, 2017
